Messrs. W. F. Kelley, Frank L. Hathaway and C. Y. Smith returned Wednesday from northern Wyoming where they spent nearly a couple of weeks fishing and hunting. They report both fish and game plenty, and the excellent reputation for veracity hitherto enjoyed by these gentlemen, lends a measure of plausibility to the somewhat ambitious yarns related by them of the animal productiveness of Wyoming, though there are those who refuse to accept one statement made by Mr. Kelley, to wit, that he caught ninety-seven trout in forty-five minutes, not including a large number that he gave away.

PATRICK EGAN

A Leading Democratic Authority on Lincoln's Noted Citizen.

Even in Lincoln, his own town, there are many opinions of the Hon. Patrick Egan. The following from the New York Sun is interesting as the expression of the leading democratic newspaper in the United States—the democrats as a rule are not kind to Mr. Egan:

The Hon. Patrick Egan, late Minister to Chili, has returned to the United States, and this is a good time to say that his conduct in the very delicate and difficult complications between the two republics was that of a firm, patriotic, and worthy representative of the honor of his country. Aside from some injudicious partisan opposition to his course, the attacks upon him in this country came principally from those Men Without A Country, the Mugwumps. It seems to grieve these gentlemen every time the United States refuses to be kicked without resistance. Besides, Mr. Egan was a friend of Mr. Blaine, and not a friend of England. So he was copiously abused and lied about.

That did not prevent his serving his country well and he deserves well of it

C. W. MOSHER.

Lincoln's Financial Napoleon Having a Good Time in Omaha.

C. W. Mosher is confined in the Douglas county jail, Omaha. "Confined" doesn't exactly express it, but that is what Judge Dundy would probably call it. In reality, Mr. Mosher runs the jail. When people call on him he takes them through and shows them the cells and the prisoners, etc., just the same as he used to show people over his bank. He receives visitors of both sexes, and has a good time generally. And Receiver Hayden meantime has not found it necessary to call upon him for assistance. The question naturally arises, why isn't he transferred to the penitentiary at Sioux Falls? The only answer that can be made to this query is that Judge Dundy and Mr. Baker don't want Mr. Mosher sent away yet.

At Burlington Beach.

At Burlington Beach the present has been a busy week. The warm weather called out large crowds, and hundreds went in bathing, or sailed on the lake, or rode on the steamer, or danced in the pavilion. There has been a big attendance every afternoon and evening. Sailing grows more popular every day. Every body sails now, and the yachts are in constant demand. The management of Burlington Beach try to make the public thoroughly at home at this resort, and they have succeeded admirably. There is so much to do, and everything is so pleasant, that people like to go to the lake. The resort grows more and more popular. Music every evening at Burlington Beach.
